

Which is the ideal path to vent a shed roof? Does a combination work more efficiently, and if so, what would that combination be and why?

